PROPOSITION TURNED DOWN

City Council Turns Down Proposition Offered by Jenkins for Street Lamps for City

At the regular monthly meeting of the City Council Monday night the question as to whether the city shall have street lights was again taken up and discussed. The Mayor and all the Councilmen were present as well as a number of interested citizens of the town. The Marion Electric Light and Water Company was represented by Robert Jenkins, who submitted a proposition to furnish street lights for the city. Mr. Jenkins agreed to furnish the lights for one year at $250 per month which was $250 less than his original proposition. The question of lights or no lights when submitted to a vote resulted in a tie, three councilmen voting for and three voting against accepting Mr. Jenkins proposition. Mayor Boswell having the deciding vote, voted "against" the lights and the proposition was lost.

The councilmen voting for accepting Mr. Jenkins proposition were W. O. Tucker, R. S. Elkins and A. M. Henry.

Those voting against accepting the proposition were C. J. Pierce, C. A. Daugherty and Eb Sullenger.

Court House News

Little business was before the Fiscal Court at its regular meeting Tuesday.

Owing to the change made in the fiscal year by the late Legislature, changing the beginning of the fiscal year from July 1, to January 1, the claims against the county were extended to the new fiscal year.

The appointing of jail and poor house physician was transferred from the fiscal to the county court.

The County Clerk issued a marriage license to George N. Delaney and Miss Florence Berry.

Miss Daisy Smart is the first woman to serve as election officer in Crittenden county.

THE MISSING WORD

This week we omitted a short word containing only four letters, the last of which is "E". We wonder how many will be able to find it.

CLOSES REVIVAL

In last weeks issue it was stated that Wm. Binkley was tried in county court on Thursday Sept. 20 on a charge of selling intoxicating liquor in violation of the prohibition laws. This is an error. The charge against Mr. Binkley was that of transporting liquor. The Press is pleased to make this correction.

Rev. E. N. Hart returned from Oak Grove, Tenn., Tuesday where he has just closed a very successful revival meeting, resulting in 62 conversions and 48 additions to the church.

Mrs. Tom Hughes of Weston was in Marion Monday enroute to Morganfield to visit the family of Dr. Will Nunn.

MARION WINS FROM OWENSBORO

Blue And White Warriors Down
Mighty Owensboro Eleven
With Score of 13 to 7

Prof. R. E. Jaggers and Coach John Y. Brown of Marion High conducted a party of tourists from Marion to Owensboro last Friday, the party being composed of the members of the Marion High School Football Team. It is understood that all members of the party thoroughly enjoyed the tour and the good people of Owensboro were unsparing in their efforts to make the visit a howling success. It is rumored that the result of the tour was eminently successful for upon their return all members of the party wore broad grins upon their handsome faces.

When the Marion team left on Friday for Owensboro they received no rousing send-off from the local supporters because there were very few of the most optimistic who believed that the Blue and White had a chance of holding the mighty Owensboro—home of so many stars of the Kentucky gridiron. Marion not only showed a fighting defense that could not be smashed by Owensboro, but also the necessary attack to win. In the last few minutes of the game when they realized that the great victory within their grasp was slowly slipping from their possession the Blue and White braced under the shadow of their own goal and battled as never a Marion team fought before—met and stopped the attack of the Owensboro team within a scant foot of a touchdown. The final was 13 to 7.

Both touchdowns for the Blue and White were made by the Brown to Hicklin combination. The first was registered with the line of scrimmage on the Owensboro fifteen yard line and the second was completed on the Owensboro twenty-five yard line. The Owensboro score was the result of one plunging. All the scoring took place in the first half.

This is the greatest triumph ever scored by the Blue and White but it seems that the above mentioned Blue and White is determined to win several games this season so we must become used to this sort of thing. Paducah is the next stop on the football schedule and Marion plays there next Saturday.

HEN KILLS SNAKE

Mr. J. F. Dorroh of Crayne vouches for the truthfulness of a good snake story. He reports that he heard a disturbance among Mrs. Dorroh's chickens the other day and upon investigation he saw a fierce battle going on between a copperhead snake and a plucky hen with a brood of young chickens. Both hen and snake fought valiantly, each making the best of every advantage, and Mr. Dorroh stopped to witness the combat. It was a fierce struggle and for while it was doubtful as to which would gain the victory. But finally after fighting about fifteen minutes the hen seemed to give the snake a solar plexus blow from which it never revived. No sooner had she killed her enemy than, laying aside all rules of modern warfare the hen proceeded to devour her victim and did not desist until she had eaten every inch of the reptile.

OUR FUN AT HOME

Satisfaction Begins With First Consideration of Plans—Too Hasty Action is Common Fault.

Building a home is the greatest fun in the world. Anyone who has tried it will bear witness. There is a unique satisfaction in making the plans and then in watching them take shape in wood or stucco or brick. Finally, it is something to be able to say: "We have built ourselves a real monument. The city has an added attractiveness because of what we have done. We are city builders." For the most satisfaction home building ought to begin years before the actual work of construction. As a family lives in rented houses its members begin to realize what features they like and what they dislike. Do they want a center hall arrangement? Or are they pleased with the dining room off the living room? What height of ceiling particularly appeals? Would they be unhappy without a sun-room? What is the verdict as to a sleeping porch? There ought to be a large store of clippings accumulated in anticipation of the time of planning; clippings from newspapers, magazines, notes jotted down from observation of other houses, or from books. All sorts of tentative plans should be sketched out, or perhaps built out of blocks. If possible, as the building time approaches and the architect is found, the preliminary study he submits should be allowed to rest for weeks—though this is a counsel of perfection and rarely observed; the thrill of getting to work is too great—and milled over. Ideas are bound to occur which may be embodied in the scheme. Too hasty action often brings regrets later.—Kansas City Star.

RECOGNIZE VALUE OF TREES

People of Canadian Provinces Said to Be Setting Out Some Five Million a Year.

Twenty-five million trees have been distributed in the last five years from the Canadian government's forest nursery station at Indian Head, Sask., and planted throughout the prairie provinces of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta.

The nursery has been distributing trees since 1901. In the first few years only a few hundred thousand trees were sent out a year, but in the last few years the average has reached 5,000,000 a year and is expected to exceed this number in the future.

The trees are planted by towns and villages along their streets and by farmers about their homes for shade and beauty and along the edges of their fields to furnish shelter for live stock and windbreaks for growing crops.

Such wholesale tree planting already has made a change in the landscape in many parts of the provinces. In time it will result in the dotting of the prairie generally with groves of forest trees.

The women of western Canada have taken perhaps more interest in this tree planting than the men.

Small Town Best Place to Live.

Certain sections of large cities are centers of continuous human misery, declares a writer in the Pittsburgh Dispatch. I refer to the congested districts where, among the crowded tenements there is scarcely room for the inhabitants to move about, to say nothing of the absence of sunshine and fresh air. The dweller in the country town may be as poorly off from a financial standpoint, but he is rich beyond comparison in his possession of the free gifts of nature which alone tend to relieve the human mind of the bitterness and discomfort of over crowded environment.

Benefits of Painting.

Painting adds charm to the environment of the farm home. As the leaves unfold and the blossoms burst forth the buildings need to conform to the surroundings. But this is not all. Paint preserves wood, keeps out moisture, and arrests the burning rays of summer heat. A good covering of paint will prolong the life and utility of a building to a considerable extent. It will also add much to the attractiveness of the farmstead and show neighbors that the farm buildings are not being run down.

Building Homes.

"No architect ought to be allowed to plan a family house unless he is married and has three children, and he should submit the plans to his wife." This was the opinion expressed by Lady Astor, M. P., when she opened an exhibition of American Architecture at the Royal Institute of British Architects in London, recently.

Purpose Absolutely Necessary.

Intense effort comes through intense desire which allows nothing to interfere with its purpose. Life is not much without ambition of some kind and unless one is living with a purpose of some sort he is merely whiling away the time, waiting for the call of the grim reaper. Try to make your ambitions worthy ones, and then concentrate on fulfilling them. Find out not only what you must do to realize them, but also what you must give up. If you desire strongly enough you will accomplish.—Exchange.

A Peri of the Marquesan Paradise.

Prepared by the National Geographic Society, Washington, D. C.

What, in "the New Pacific" that the Washington conference is believed to have created, will be the future of France's island possessions nearest to the United States—the Marquesas? In a few years these fertile, lovely islands, now left practically alone, may be treated as a geographical clean slate, for the natives are rapidly dying off.

The Spanish navigator, Mendana, first discovered the islands with their towering black cliffs, and sailed through a break into a wonderful bay, once the crater of a huge volcano. What must have been his amazement is shared by the traveler today. Within the bay, what a contrast! Where once telluric fires burned, the luxuriant verdure of the tropics now overruns the immense amphitheater in riotous profusion. It is as if nature in repentant mood were pouring out her gifts with unstinted hand to cover the scars and desolation wrought by volcanic fury.

Trees and vine, flower and shrub, cover the abrupt, almost vertical sides of the huge basin and clamber high over ridge after ridge of the knife-like hills; choke the deep ravines and valleys with their prolific mass of bloom and foliage, and, creeping in rich abundance almost to the water's edge, climb the black basalt cliffs towering over the bay, thus seeking to soften their harsh, broken outlines beneath a rank growth of vines and mosses.

Great cascades, springing from the living rock high on the mountain side, leap over mighty precipices, gleaming like strands of silver in the sunlight, to be lost in the mysterious depths of dark gorges far below. These waters wind through dark, tortuous ravines and form the racing stream that tumbles swiftly between the twisting hills into the steep valley of Hanavave, where it rushes over its rocky bed to pass into the blue waters of the quiet bay.

Beyond the crescent of white sand that lies between the cliffs, banyan, mango, and breadfruit trees mingle their brilliant foliage and blossoms with the slender brown trunks and waving frond of the pandanus and coco palm.

Less than a century ago this forest was thickly dotted with the brown thatched huts of the Hanavaveans, each upon its paepae or platform of stone constructed without mortar or cement. Thousands of these paepae, no longer in use, cling to the vertical sides of valleys and ravines in a state of perfect preservation, the platform usually 20 by 30 or 40 feet, level and unbroken, often walled up 10 or 15 feet on the lower side.

Beautiful Women, Fierce Men.

To describe the dainty, graceful Marquesanne as she unquestionably was before Cook's advent may lay the describer open to the charge of exaggeration. But from Mendana to Stevenson, with Melville for good measure, her remarkable beauty was a source of surprise and admiration.

When women possess beautiful, luxuriant hair, fine eyes, perfect teeth, a slender, graceful form, a skin of velvet texture and unblemished surface, and these physical attractions are combined with a vivacity of spirit and action, exaggeration becomes difficult and unless all chroniclers of the islands have for several centuries agreed to deceive the world, such was the Marquesanne; so she is today, when sickness has not diminished her charm.

The men were fierce, cruel cannibals, who chief occupation, aside from the indulgence of their amative propensities, was the killing of both men and women of other tribes for gastronomic purposes.

The all-powerful iapu was the "law and the prophets" of the Marquesans.

Some of the tapus for the guidance of the women would probably incite a suffragette to spectacular wrath. Without exception on any island, women might not eat "long pig", nor brown pig, a delicacy much enjoyed by the men folks in the absence of the longer variety.

Now daily with bonita or squid, the two fishes most in favor with the Marquesan palate.

Nor, except on special occasions, eat fresh breadfruit, bananas, or coconut. Nor could they go in canoes, a provision to keep them from being captured by enemies lurking outside the bay.

And a tapu savoring of Solomon in its wisdom, women could not weep! It would be a grave error to conclude from the taboos mentioned that the life of the Marquesan woman was a hard one.

They Had No Agriculture.

Agriculture in any form was unknown. The natives took the bountiful variety of flora the islands provided, but to assist nature in any way by tilling or replanting never occurred to them. Content with their gratification of the desires of the day, the Marquesans took literally no thought for the morrow.

The most favored intoxicant in the Marquesas is namu-ehi, or, as it is more commonly known, koko. Eh is Marquesan for coconut, and it is from the coco palm that this most insidious and delectable of drinks is made. A tall coco palm that has been wind-blown so that its plump top leans far out of the perpendicular, is chosen. The buds, from which eventually fifty or sixty nuts would be produced, grow in a compact, oblong cluster near the top of the palm. The native climbs the tree and, using long strips of bark or fiber, binds the cluster of blossoms tightly round and round, until the result resembles a huge, fat cigar protruding from the fronds. Underneath the point of this a bowl is suspended and the tip end of the wrapping sliced off.

After the second day it begins to drip freely, but the end must be sliced fresh every twenty-four hours to stimulate the flow. In this manner a tree will furnish one or more gallons a day for several weeks.

When fresh from the tree the beverage resembles a delicious lemonade, with a flavor which would make the fortune of a soft-drink manufacturer who could reproduce it. Fermentation takes place speedily, however, and in a few hours your soft drink has "hardened" into a vicious man-killer that only a savage can go against with impunity.

Captain Cook's report placed the Marquesas literally and figuratively "on the map." That was 145 years ago, and since then the history of the islands is the tragic story of a losing fight by a race of savages against a civilization represented in this instance by the whaler, the missionary, the trader, the "blackbird," and finally their conquest and subjugation by a foreign power.

In 1842 Admiral Du Petit-Thouars took possession of the entire group in the name of France, ostensibly to protect the missionaries in their labors for Christianity. Forts were built on several of the islands and troops installed to enforce French authority.

The ensuing fifty years is a record of desultory warfare between the French soldiers and the Marquesan warriors, in which the latter, always at war with each other and poorly armed, were constantly defeated; of "blackbirders" from North and South America, who raided the weakened villages and sold the men and women into slavery in far-off lands, and of the frightful ravages of smallpox, tuberculosis, leprosy, and other contagious.

It is the result of a carelessness, rather than intent, as definite efforts to make it have generally resulted in failure and a great deal of loss. Certain conditions, however, are essential in making brown hay. It should be put up in good-sized stacks, as it molds and chars to such an extent in small loose stacks that it is not fit for feed.

From reports that have been collected from different alfalfa-growing areas, the United States Department of Agriculture concludes that good brown alfalfa hay is equal or somewhat superior in palatability to good field-cured hay, but not superior to it in feeding value. The method of making would be important could it be depended upon for saying hay in climates where there is so much rainfall that it is difficult to cure the hay in the field. Because of danger from spontaneous combustion it is not advisable to try to make brown hay in barns or mows.

Progressive Firm of Butchers in Ohio Hit on Novel Scheme to Build Up Quality.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture)

Recognizing that live-stock improvement is beneficial to the meat trade as well as to producers of animals, butchers are becoming interested in the better-sires idea. A progressive firm of butchers in a small Ohio city seeks to better the live stock of that locality by a plan described in the following letter to the United States Department of Agriculture:

"While we have never made a business of dealing in purebred live stock," says the writer, "we have always encouraged their use. We have kept a line on well-bred young bulls in our vicinity, and whenever we buy an animal for slaughter we use our best efforts to have him replaced with something better. We believe this plan will help to build up the quality of cattle in the neighborhood, to the advantage of both ourselves and the farmers.

"When we kill an animal that has an exceptionally good 'dress' we display the carcass in our window, giving on a card the age, live weight, dressed weight and the percentage of dressed meat. In this way we advertise to producers that they get more live weight and we get more dressed weight from well-bred stock than from inferior stock of the same age. We have demonstrated also the superiority of veal calves from well-bred parents, and have shown that they mean more to the farmer in dollars and cents than the other kind."

In commenting on the plan, live-stock specialists in the bureau of animal industry point out that small-town butchers are in a position to help

First Cross Shorthorn Steer Obtained by Using a Purebred Sire With a Common Cow.

Influencing the quality of future generations of cattle and hogs that come to their cutting blocks. The plan as presented by the firm of butchers quoted is in accord with methods of live-stock improvement advised by the department.

ACUTE SHORTAGE OF HORSES

Farmers Experience Difficulty in Obtaining Animals Required for Farm Work.

Difficulty is being experienced by many farmers in obtaining work horses needed. This fact has been made clear to W. H. Peters, chief of the animal husbandry division of the University of Minnesota, by the number of inquiries made by him and members of his staff as to the available supply of farm work horses.

"There isn't any doubt that for the last two years the number of colts raised has been less than the number of horses that have died," said Professor Peters. "Is the inevitable result of this condition already making itself evident? If this condition is maintained an acute shortage of work horses is bound to result."

"Farmers who have good sound mares will find it profitable to breed them. This will be particularly true if the mares can be mated to a good sound stallion of desirable draft type. In communities where such a stallion is not available any farmer with a half dozen or more mares will find it profitable to purchase and keep such a horse."

Market Home Grown Feeds

Farmer Should Determine Number of Head of Cattle to Keep by Available Feed.

The number of live stock which a farmer feeds on his farm should be determined by the amount of home grown feeds which he has on hand, and the price which he can get for these feeds if sold on the market. As a general rule live stock will market home grown feeds at a profit if the live stock is given a square deal; but it is out of the question to expect scrub stock to be economical users of feeds.

Immunizing Against Cholera. When immunizing hogs against cholera do not make injections in the ham or shoulder as this lowers the value of those portions of the carcass. Inject serum in the flank or between the fore legs.

Oats Not Fattening. Oats make a very poor feed for fattening cattle, as they are so bulky that the cattle cannot eat enough of them to put on the necessary amount of fat.

CITY COUNCIL STILL ON STRIKE

And As Is Usual in Such Cases
The People Are the Sufferers

The striking City Council met again Monday evening and they were urged to consider plans and proposals which had been secured by citizens who were anxious to terminate the present intolerable light situation. The Council adjourned, however, leaving the situation no better, probably worse.

Three members of the Council, R. S. Elkins, W. O. Tucker and A. M. Henry manifested a disposition to end the controversy in a reasonable way so that the city might again be lighted on the old schedule. But Councilmen Eb Sullenger, C. J. Pierce and C. A. Daughtrey, together with Mayor Boswell, voted nay. Mr. J. N. Boston appeared before the council and submitted a written proposition to which he had secured the signature of S. M. Jenkins, the owner of the light plant.

The substance of this proposition was that Mr. Jenkins again turn on the current under the old schedule, provided the city would pay him at the rate of $225 a month for May, June, July and August. Mr. Jenkins has never been paid anything for lighting the city during these months. The amount he asked was the same which he had been paid for the months immediately preceding.

Second, that Jenkins will furnish lights for one year at the rate of $250 per month.

No one denied that this service will cost Mr. Jenkins more than it ever has before, nor did anyone point out anything unreasonable in the Jenkins proposal. Certain members of the council contended that the figures exceeded so far as to indicate that the values of city property were damaged as was ever known in this history. So that the city council must have had at its disposal as much money as any council had had in the last 22 years, and during which time the city was never in darkness for lack of funds, neither did any member of the council offer to explain what disposition had been made of the more than $3000 which their predecessors in office left in the city treasury.

Messrs. Pierce, Sullenger and Daughtrey and Boswell voted nay to the Jenkins proposition and left the citizens with only their flash lights. The council is to meet again Monday evening when they MAY take some action on the flash light question.

The strike is still on and the citizens are still paying taxes to light the streets. The Press wishes it could see some rays of light through the dark clouds that overshadow us.

In a recent interview given out by Henry Ford he advises the people of the country to buy as little coal as possible, stating that "prices are tumbling" and that they will go much lower. Tell the people of he whole world he said that prices will be much lower later on.

Now that the difficulty in making shipments owing to the railroad strike has cleared the flour spar business is reviving and indications are that the spar trade will be more brisk as well as more profitable than for a long time. There is a constant demand for spar and the prices are good. Outside capital is being attracted to Crittenden county and mines that have been closed down are being reopened new machinery is being purchased and everything indicates a renewed activity in that field.

The mills for crushing and cleaning the spar are kept busy and many wagon and truck loads are being delivered daily.

Formerly spar had a very limited use, but it is now in demand for a great variety of sources. Consequently the demand has increased, bringing higher prices, and greatly building up the business.

Machine of One Purpose

BUTTER FAT is worth a lot of money today. To save every particle of it is the part of wise business economy. The Primrose Cream Separator is the standby of the wise dairyman.

The more you see of the Primrose separator and the longer you use it, the better you will like it. It has but one purpose—to separate cream from milk. It saves all the cream. The escape of a little cream here and there may not strike you as such a serious matter, but bunch those losses over a period of time and you will be astonished at the amount. That is where the Primrose protects your pocket-book.

The Primrose is the only cream separator that forces oil through every bearing, not just to them. This and other special and exclusive features about the machine we should like to show you. ## COW-TESTING ASSOCIATIONS

Small Group of Michigan Farmers First Entered Upon Experiment Considered Doubtful.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Fifteen years ago a small group of farmers in Michigan entered upon what many of them probably considered a very doubtful experiment. It was the organization of an association for testing their cows, in respect to how much feed they ate and how much milk they gave; an association such as the farmers of Denmark had originally ed about ten years before, and which various other European countries had copied.

The experiment, as studied by the United States Department of Agriculture, proved a success, however, and now the number of such associations has grown from 1 to 452. It is notable that some states which took up the idea at an early date have stuck to the movement and organized more and more associations, while others continue with only a few. Most states increase the number of their cow-testing associations as time goes on, and the Department of Agriculture is fostering the work.

The lack of testers during the war caused a setback to the movement, but recovery from this has taken place, and the number of associations in the country is now much larger than it was before the war.

AMOUNTS OF FEED FOR COWS

Upon Capacity of Animal Depends Quantity of Daily Portion of Grain and Roughage.

The quantity of silage to feed a cow depends upon the capacity of the animal. She should have as much as she will clean up without waste when consumed with the grain and hay, is the advice given farmers by the United States Department of Agriculture. A good cow should be fed just short of the limit of her appetite. The smaller cows usually eat from 20 to 30 pounds of silage a day, and the larger animals 40 pounds or more.

The hay needed ordinarily ranges between 5 and 12 pounds per cow a day, or 0.8 pound per 100 pounds of live weight when fed in connection with silage. Silage should be fed in the proportion of about 2.5 to 3 pounds per 100 pounds of live weight. Concentrates should be fed according to size of animals and richness of milk. One pound is required for each 2½ to 4 pounds of milk produced.

Although corn silage is one of the best feeds particularly for dairy cows, there are some milk producers who use it too freely. It is not a complete feed; neither is it a food that will give best results with only leguminous hays as alfalfa or cowpeas.

Since cows cannot consume enough of these rough feeds to produce the best results under ordinary conditions, it is necessary to feed concentrates in addition, particularly when the price is not high, as is the case this year. Farmers' Bulletin 578, "The Making and Feeding of Silage," contains much helpful information on feeding when silage is the basis of the ration.

WARM WATER FOR MILK COWS

Animals Will Not Drink Necessary Amount From Icy Tank--Heaters Can Be Provided.

Cold drinking water given to dairy cows will result in reduced quantity of milk. A cow which yields a large quantity of milk must drink lots of water; she won't drink much from an icy tank. Water tanks can be provided with heaters, or hot water can be poured into the tank.

Winter Dairying Held Back.

Winter dairying has been held back for many years, largely through the failure of cow-keepers to provide comfortable barns properly equipped.

Give Much More Butterfat.

Cows sired by purebred bulls give much more butterfat than those sired by scrub.

Ice Water Is Expensive.

Food can never get cheap enough to make it profitable to give the cows ice water to drink.

GOOD WORK FOR SANITATION

Public-Spirited Nevada Citizens Have Shown What May Be Done Through Concerted Action.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Sanitation has an important place on the program of work for 1922 in six communities in Clark and Lincoln counties, Nevada, reports the state leader of home demonstration agents, working co-operatively with the United States Department of Agriculture and the State Agricultural college. Securing and enforcing definite rules in regard to clean yards, lots or houses, spring water, ditches and streets is one of the principal goals.

Four of these communities have no town organization, the county government regulating local affairs. Under the direction of home demonstration workers the women are taking steps to form town organizations in order to have authority to make and enforce ordinances for health, and to make local improvements of various kinds. As there is no sewage system in these communities, the water is very unwholesome and a menace to health. It is brought long distances from springs through unclean, open ditches.

The people of Mesquite community in Clark county held their second clean-up day last spring. As a result three miles of ditch were cleaned, three culverts made, the main channel of the town ditch changed, a new head-gate built, weeds grubbed out, rubbish cleaned up, and mud holes filled and leveled. A number of girls of the community agreed to take turns pouring kerosene on all ponds to kill mosquito eggs and wrigglers, thus helping to rid the community of one nuisance. Each person worked in his own neighborhood and had his dinner at home. More was accomplished than if a community dinner had been served.

Plan to Beautify City.

"Kenosha beautiful" is said to be the goal of the new city manager form of government in that Wisconsin city. One of the first acts was to adopt a resolution for the hiring of a city planner to formulate a course of development which will lead to a more beautiful city. The county board has agreed to co-operate, passing a motion that the building of the new court house would be done in conformance with any city plan adopted by the new council.

Source of Invisible Rays Found.

It was Professor Blondot of the French Academy of Sciences who discovered that invisible rays capable of penetrating solid substances are given off from the incandescent mantles of the Welshbach light, says the Washington Star. Later he announced the discovery of similar radiations from an ordinary Argand burner and from a sheet of incandescent silver. The rays from polished silver are polarized, but when the silver is covered with lampblack the polarization disappears.

And I know what a splendid thing 'twould be

If you would do the same!

I trust my town and I boast my town, And I want to do my part. To make it a town that all may praise From the depths of every heart!

I like my town and I sing my town, And I want my town to grow.

If I knocked my town or I blocked my town,

That wouldn't be nice, you know!

I think my town is the very best town In all the world—to me!

Or if it's not, I want to make it be!

I talk my town and I preach my town,

As I think a fellow should

Who has more at stake than to win or make

For the love of the common good!

I bet on my town, and I bank on my town,

And I think it fine to feel—

When you know your town and you love your town—

That's part of your honest seal.

I'm proud of my town, I love my town,

And I want to help it rise—

And that's the way to help a town—

Not curse it and despise

REAL BACKBONE OF NATION

Small Town of Infinitely More Importance Than the Crowded and Frequently Thoughtless Cities.

More and more the importance of the small town in the great systems of government and civilization is being realized. President Harding merely gave fitting voice to this realization when he referred to the small town as the "one everlasting anchor." It is this, and more—a great balance wheel that is forever in motion to keep the social and other pendulums of national life from swinging too far in extreme directions.

National salvation sometimes is to be found in "small-town ideas," which are not always progressive, but which are conceived in second thoughts—and blessed, indeed, is that nation whose people are moved to action only after second thoughts have established themselves! The small town thinks before it acts. Sometimes this is not true of the city, where contributing factors to serious consideration are more complicated, more bound up in the hurrying movement of life. No nation is greater than its average small town.—Florida Metropolis.

Utilities Injure Trees. The tree growth on the streets of the average American town or city is ragged and unkempt in appearance, while that of the suburb or small village often is not much better unless the planting has been done under municipal control, and the plantings on a street have been confined to a single kind of tree. The telegraph, the telephone, the electric light and the trolley car have added their share toward the mutilation or destruction of the good trees that were in existence at the time of their coming.

Faulty methods of pruning have caused disfigurement and ruin. "Success follows the careful planting of good trees which are given adequate protection and timely attention," says Farmers' Bulletin 1209, "Planting and Care of Street Trees," just issued by the United States Department of Agriculture. "Every tree should be trained to its proper form while young, so that severe pruning will not be necessary later."

To the mutilation of severe pruning has been added the destruction of many trees in centers of business because they excluded a little light, or made the store less prominent, or were somewhat in the way of using the sidewalk for merchandise."

Service is Thing That Counts. A merchant should not be a leach on his community. The way to prosper is to realize that what helps the trade territory helps you. Merit gain on the part of a member or business institution is not an asset—it is the service that each one renders to his fellow-men, business associates and the community that counts.

If you are going to practice neighborliness try and help your neighbor—be a good neighbor. It is good business. I always figure that if the productiveness of my community is increased my business will pick up.

I don't care if my competitor gets a bigger share—all I want is my share.—Kansas City Star.

Boasts of Dancing Cat. A little boy in New Brunswick had an old cat that he trained to dance when the boy would whistle. The lad would choose the time when the cat was sleeping at the back of the stove for the performance. Then he would commence to whistle. When the cat heard the whistling she would commence to move as though she was drawing her and then she would jump on his knee and step, keeping time to the whistling. She would dance until she grew weary if the boy kept on whistling.

Crittenden on Keeping Farm Free From Weeds—Good Meat Producers.

While many farmers flop from one line of farming to another, according as prices have been high or low the season previous, the successful farmer usually sticks to some well-tried program whether conditions appear to be favorable or otherwise. The great majority of these successful men recommend the keeping of at least a few sheep upon the farm.

They emphasize that sheep are helpful in keeping the farm clean of weeds. They also consume much material that would otherwise go to waste. These farmers point out, too, that these animals can be comfortably kept in comparatively inexpensive buildings. The two main requirements in housing are protection from winds and freedom from moisture.

These animals enable the farmer to better distribute his labor because

BANKS AID PUREBRED SIRES

Virginia Farmers Given Opportunity to Improve Live Stock by Local Bankers.

The banks of Charlottesville, Va., are co-operating with farmers of the surrounding county in obtaining purebred sires. According to reports received by the United States Department of Agriculture, if a farmer will sell his grade or scrub sires and purchase pure-bred animals, the banks supply the necessary funds to cover the purchase of the purebred sire over the amount received for the inferior animal. The loan is made on the basis of a year's time.

Sentiment among bankers regarding the use of purchased live stock in practical farming operations appears to be growing more favorable, and the attitude of the Charlottesville banks is evidence of this point. Purebred sires of good quality, as shown by information obtained by the Bureau of Animal Industry, increase the earning power of herds and flocks in which they are used.

CYLINDER OIL HELPS SWINE

Ames Specialists Declare It is Safe for Hogs Except Those With Delicate Skin.

Old oil from automobile crank cases can be used for oiling hogs, say the animal husbandrymen at Iowa State College. Although some people are skeptical about using this sort of oil, the Ames men declare that it is safe, except possibly in the case of white hogs, which have a delicate skin that sometimes blisters through the use of the oil.

The oil should be allowed to stand for a while in order to allow the fine particles of metal to settle out. The surface oil may then be scraped off and used in the hog oilers. The sediment should be discarded.

Illinois Central System Urges Co-operation in the Movement of Coal

The Illinois Central System is facing the problem of providing coal cars for transporting fall and winter bituminous coal supplies from the mines to its patrons. Ordinarily this task is performed partly during the summer, before the heavy traffic occasioned by the movement of the crops begins. Owing to the miners' strike in the bituminous coal fields which continued for nearly five months from April 1 to August 22, the heavy movement of coal and the movement of the crops came at the same time this fall.

During the miners' strike the side tracks of the railroad were crowded with many thousands of idle coal cars. Reserve supplies of coal were exhausted and all coal bins are now practically empty. Every informed person will appreciate that no railway system could keep itself adequately equipped to meet such a situation as this. However, the Illinois Central System organization is proceeding to the task of moving as many tons of coal from the mines to dealers, consumers and industries as is humanly possible to move with its facilities.

By the prompt loading and unloading of cars and by direct billing of cars to avoid delays occasioned by reconsignment coal mine operators, coal dealers and coal consumers can aid materially in accelerating the coal movement. With the people demanding coal to keep them warm and prevent suffering this winter and with industries demanding coal to keep up production thus avoiding unemployment, every person should constitute himself, or herself a committee of one to see that no coal car is delayed for even one unnecessary hour.

We appeal to coal mine operators, coal dealers and coal consumers to cooperate with this company in preventing unnecessary delay in the loading and unloading of coal cars. We believe that the prompt movement of coal cars has never been so necessary as it is at this time. We believe, also, that if we receive 100 per cent cooperation from coal mine operators, coal dealers and coal consumers in the prompt loading and unloading of coal cars no one dependent upon the Illinois Central System for transportation will suffer from cold this winter.

About 75 percent of the bituminous coal loaded on the Illinois Central System rails is unloaded at destinations on other lines. Therefore, one of our problems is to get cars unloaded promptly on our connecting lines and returned to us for quick delivery to the mines. In this we need and ask the greatest co-operation even of those whom we do not directly serve.

The Illinois Central System owns 30,667 open top cars suitable for coal loading. To this number should be added 5,000 new coal cars which we have recently purchased. Two thousand of these cars are now being delivered, and delivery of the remaining 3,000 has been promised in November in time to take part in the heavy coal traffic this fall.

One of the responsibilities devolving upon a railway system is that of constantly adding to its equipment in order to discharge faithfully its duty to its patrons. In addition to the 5,000 new coal cars which we are adding to those already owned, we are this month receiving deliveries of sixty-five new locomotives which were ordered last July.

The aggregate cost of cars and locomotives bought by the Illinois Central System this year amounts to more than $14,000,000. Yet, in spite of this and the further fact that this railway system has expended more than $180,000,000 for enlargements and improvements to its property in the last twelve years, its capacity for serving its patrons this fall and winter may be inadequate.

We ask our patrons to consider carefully all of the obstacles which have confronted us and the other railroads before framing an opinion in regard to why the capacity of the railroads is sometimes not equal to demands.

Constructive criticism and suggestions are invited.

C. H. MARKHAM,
President, Illinois Central System.

Bankers Say:

Not only the Burley Tobacco Growers Co-operative Association is proving a big success in getting tobacco to better advantage and for better prices than under the old dumping or auction system, but a similar organization in the Carolinas is also securing the same results, although the season is just now under way.

Here is proof of what is being accomplished in those states by the Association. It is not denied that the auction houses are selling tobacco too, and at advanced prices over last year, in the face of an increased production. On this score we would like to ask: "Do you suppose for a minute that these prices would be paid by the auction houses if the movement to organize the growers had never been started?" Think this over.

BANKS GIVE TESTIMONY

In Florence, S. C., there are four banks. Read what they say of the association there is doing business:

"The Tobacco Growers Co-operative Association in South Carolina is a splendid success. The city of Florence including banks and business houses is 100 percent co-operative. We feel that we have doubled the price of our entire South Carolina tobacco crop in the first year of its operation. The sales committee is meeting with wonderful success in selling our tobacco at satisfactory prices. Even the non-signers are giving the association credit for increase in price. Everyone appreciates the orderly manner of marketing as against the old dumping system.

"When the doors are opened again for signers, we expect to see our membership increased to nearly 100 percent. We consider the movement the financial salvation of the South Carolina tobacco farmers.

TOBACCO MAN'S STATEMENT

The Owensboro Messenger of September 24th, contains this interesting letter, which please note was written by a man who is interested in a loose leaf floor:

"J. E. Bowling of Durham, N. C., district manager of warehouses for the tobacco pool for both Virginia, North and South Carolina, who is also interested in the Owensboro Tobacco Loose Leaf Warehouse of Owensboro, has written a letter to Charles A. Rogers, member of the local committee inviting him and Chairman Haycraft and those interested to come to the Carolinas for a week and see the pool in operation there. He writes Mr. Rogers as follows:

Carolina Pool a Success

"I believe it would be worth your while for you and Mr. Will Haycraft and any other people that you could get to come with you, for you to come up into the Carolinas and spend a week with me.

"At the present time, we have made sales of all the tobacco, and probably more than we can possibly get in South Carolina, and it looks to us today that we will probably sell this whole crop of tobacco before it is delivered.

"I think this trip out here, and the seeing for yourself will give you great prestige in making your sign-up as I cannot go into details in a letter to you, and I would prefer you to come and see for yourself, if you possibly can do so. You can then make a report to the people which will be of great help to you.

"I am only writing to you as you can see Mr. Haycraft, and I hope you will write me what date you will come, so I can make my arrangements accordingly.

"You may come any time after the 12th as a great many of our markets will be open and receiving tobacco on that date and many more will open on the 25th and 26th, and all the markets in Virginia and North Carolina will be open by October 1st. Please notify me when I may expect you."

Live Stock Farmers

As a result of a compromise reached between Southern live stock shippers and railroads a scale of live stock rates will be established throughout the south in lieu of the rates which the carriers endeavored to make effective June 1. The compromise scale is slightly higher than that proposed by the shippers in the formal complaint but materially lower than the one which the railroads sought to make effective. A few samples of the proposed and agreed rates follow.

Cattle minimum car 50 miles, the railroads originally proposed $43 the compromise scale is $28. For 100 miles the railroads proposed $57 the compromise scale $38.

There have been special rates established also as double deck rates on hogs, sheep, calves, goats, lambs and on the same basis per hundred pounds as applies to the cattle with a 22,000 pound minimum on hogs and calves, and a 18,000 pound minimum on sheep lambs and kids. Small stock moving in the south has not heretofore enjoyed double deck rates and the new rates will carry with them a provision whereby the single deck cars may be furnished in lieu of double deck cars ordered where this substitution is for the carriers convenience and the lower rates will be protected. This compromise was affected on the 14th day of the hearing for the Interstate Commerce Commission and it is significant that the railroads first proposed a compromise shortly after the witnesses from the County Farm Bureaus in Kentucky began their testimony. All Farm Bureaus therefore who co-operated in this case can feel that they played a most important part in effecting this compromise.

IN MEMORY OF HARVEY FOX

The Angel of Death visited the Rodney community and removed from our midst a loving companion, brother and neighbor, Harvey Fox. He was born July 15, 1864, departed this life, Sept. 6, 1922, aged 58 years one month and 22 days, was united in marriage to Miss Lee Tudor August 24, 1892. To this union was born one child, little Reva, who departed this life in infancy 1894 and has been waiting all these years to welcome her Papa home. Harve professed faith in Christ and joined the M. E. church at Weston in the fall of 1891.

He was kind and obliging neighbor, will be missed greatly as he was always present to lend a helping hand at all community gatherings, was charitable but very quiet about it, not boasting of what he did. He leaves to mourn his loss a loving wife and brother, Dan Fox.

His foster son Elfry and wife, three nephews, the entire family of Geo. P. Wilson who practically raised Harvey, he having gone there to make his home at the age of fourteen and remained there until he married and had a home of his own which he loved and appreciated, but he has left this home and gone to a brighter home beyond the starry skies where cometh no night, and we never say good bye. Weep not o'er ones and friends. He is at rest for not one day did he part from his God.

As they stood around his dying bed and watched that hallowed expression come over his face as he seemed to be looking up into Heaven, or beholding his Savior's smiling face. Death at best is sad, but Harvey's death was a triumphant, wonderful, let us therefore be thankful and prepare to meet him in the sweet by and bye, for in Heaven we will never say good bye.

The funeral services were conducted by Bro. Carl Boucher at the Wilsons' grave yard his old home place in the presence of a large crowd of friends and laid to rest beside his little babe, Reba.

CONCERNING DOGS

The dog is placed at the feet of women in scripture to symbolize affection and fidelity.

David Lawrence, hero of a popular old English tale, had a dog which was so lazy that it leaned its head against a wall when it barked.

The expression, "dog in the manger" is applied to a churlish person who will not use what is wanted by another nor let the other use it.

In the Far East the dog still is held in abhorrence as a scavenger of the streets, and the appellation "dirty dog" is the superlative of disdain.

Barry, the famous mastiff of Great St. Bernard's, in the early part of the Nineteenth century, was instrumental in saving the lives of 40 Alpine travelers.

A dog at the feet of a Crusader was symbolic of the fact that the Crusader followed the standard of the Lord as faithfully as the dog follows the footsteps of his master.

Cerberus, according to Roman mythology, was the three-headed dog guarding the entrance to the infernal regions. Hercules dragged the monster to earth, but released him.

"Barking dogs never bite" had its origin in the statement that dogs in their wild state never bark, but howl, whine and growl. Barking is an acquired habit and it was believed, was no indication of a savage temper.

"Dog-watch" is a corruption of "hedge-watch" and has no relation to dogs. In seafaring two short watches, one from 4 o'clock to 6 and the other from 6 to 8 in the evening, were introduced to dodge the routine or prevent the same men always keeping watch at the same time.

Why It Is Called Wall Street.

Wall street, New York, derives its name from the old wall that extended along it in the old Dutch days, and marked the northern boundary of the town of New Amsterdam.

Success Follows Perseverance. Success may not come in a day, a month or a year. It never does come in a day, a week or a month, or a year. But soon or late it is bound to come, and with gratifying fullness, if confidence is sustained despite all reverses, if effort is manfully maintained. Whoever follows this rule of faithful perseverance must in the end find a place among life's winners. For with repeated effort power grows. And power thus augmented proves irresistible at last.

Live Stock Farmers

As a result of a compromise reached between Southern live stock shippers and railroads a scale of live stock rates will be established throughout the south in lieu of the rates which the carriers endeavored to make effective June 1. The compromise scale is slightly higher than that proposed by the shippers in the formal complaint but materially lower than the one which the railroads sought to make effective. A few samples of the proposed and agreed rates follow.

Cattle minimum car 50 miles, the railroads originally proposed $43 the compromise scale is $28. For 100 miles the railroads proposed $57 the compromise scale $38.

There have been special rates established also as double deck rates on hogs, sheep, calves, goats, lambs and on the same basis per hundred pounds as applies to the cattle with a 22,000 pound minimum on hogs and calves, and a 18,000 pound minimum on sheep lambs and kids. Small stock moving in the south has not heretofore enjoyed double deck rates and the new rates will carry with them a provision whereby the single deck cars may be furnished in lieu of double deck cars ordered where this substitution is for the carriers convenience and the lower rates will be protested. This compromise was affected on the 14th day of the hearing for the Interstate Commerce Commission and it is significant that the railroads first proposed a compromise shortly after the witnesses from the County Farm Bureaus in Kentucky began their testimony. All Farm Bureaus therefore who co-operated in this case can feel that they played a most important part in effecting this compromise.

Travel of Light and Sound.
Sound is said to move at the rate of 30 miles a minute, and, compared to light, it is slower than a snail. If we should hear a clap of thunder half a minute after a flash of lightning, we could calculate that the discharge of electricity was about six and a half miles away.

Dreaded Fog

The pogonip is a fog composed of fine needles of ice which occurs in winter in mountainous regions of the western United States. It is reputed to be very dangerous to the lungs.

IN MEMORY OF HARVEY FOX

The Angel of Death visited the Rodney community and removed from our midst a loving companion, brother and neighbor, Harvey Fox. He was born July 15, 1864, departed this life, Sept. 6, 1922, aged 58 years one month and 22 days, was united in marriage to Miss Lee Tudor August 24, 1892. To this union was born one child, little Reva, who departed this life in infancy 1894 and has been waiting all these years to welcome her Papa home. Harvey professed faith in Christ and joined the M. E. church at Weston in the fall of 1891.

He was kind and obliging neighbor, will be missed greatly as he was always present to lend a helping hand at all community gatherings, was charitable but very quiet about it, not boasting of what he did. He leaves to mourn his loss a loving wife and brother, Dan Fox. His foster son Elfray and wife, three nephews, the entire family of Geo. P. Wilson who practically raised Harvey, he having gone there to make his home at the age of fourteen and remained there until he married and had a home of his own which he loved and appreciated, but he has left this home and gone to a brighter home beyond the starry skies where cometh no night, and we never say good bye. Weep not o'er ones and friends. He is at rest for not one doubted his peace with God. As they stood around his dying bed and watched that hallowed expression come over his face as he seemed to be looking up into Heaven, or beholding his Savior's smiling face. Death at best is sad, but Harvey's death was a triumphant, wonderful, let us therefore be thankful and prepare to meet him in the sweet by and bye, far in Heaven we will never say good bye.

The funeral services were conducted by Bro. Carl Boucher at the Wilson graveyard his old home place in the presence of a large crowd of friends and laid to rest beside his little babe, Reba.

CONCERNING DOGS

The dog is placed at the feet of women in sculpture to symbolize affection and fidelity.

David Lawrence, hero of a popular English tale, had a dog which was so lazy that it leaned its head against a wall when it barked.

The expression, "dog in the manger," is applied to a churlish person who will not use what is wanted by another nor let the other use it.

In the Far East the dog still is held in abhorrence as a scavenger of the streets, and the appellation "dirty dog" is the superlative of disdain.

Barry, the famous mastiff of Great St. Bernard's, in the early part of the Nineteenth century, was instrumental in saving the lives of 40 Alpine travelers.

A dog at the feet of a Crusader was symbolic of the fact that the Crusader followed the standard of the Lord as faithfully as the dog follows the footsteps of his master.

Cerberus, according to Roman mythology, was the three-headed dog guarding the entrance to the infernal regions. Hercules dragged the monster to earth, but released him.

"Barking dogs never bite" had its origin in the statement that dogs in their wild state never bark, but howl, whine and growl. Barking is an acquired habit and it was believed, was no indication of a savage temper.

"Dog watch" is a corruption of "dodge-watch" and has no relation to dogs. In seafaring two short watches one from 4 o'clock to 6 and the other from 6 to 8 in the evening, were introduced to dodge the routine or prevent the same men always keeping watch at the same time.

A market note says sugar has been advanced in price, a reminder of the days when a grocer required a certificate of good moral character as a preliminary to selling a customer a pound at 20 cents.

The Siamese national anthem has 64 verses, and as is the case in our own country with the "Star-Spangled Banner," there are probably any number of Siamese who can hum them all.

When it comes time to beat the rugs, father agrees that short skirts give freedom of movement.

Carolina Pool a Success

"I believe it would be worth your while for you and Mr. Will Haycraft and any other people that you could get to come with you, for you to come up into the Carolinas and spend a week with me.

"At the present time, we have made sales of all the tobacco, and probably more than we can possibly get in South Carolina, and it looks to us today that we will probably sell this whole crop of tobacco before it is delivered.

"I think this trip out here, and the seeing for yourself will give you great prestige in making your sign-up as I cannot go into details in a letter to you, and I would prefer you to come and see for yourself, if you possibly can do so. You can then make a report to the people which will be of great help to you.

"I am only writing to you as you can see Mr. Haycraft, and I hope you will write me what date you will come, so I can make my arrangements accordingly.

"You may come any time after the 12th as a great many of our markets will be open and receiving tobacco on that date and many more will open on the 25th and 26th, and all the markets in Virginia and North Carolina will be open by October 1st. Please notify me when I may expect you."

J. E. BOWLING

Success Follows Perseverance.

Success may not come in a day. It may not come in a week, a month or a year. It never does come in a day, a week or a month, or a year. But soon or late it is bound to come, and with gratifying fullness. If confidence is sustained despite all reverses, if effort is manfully maintained. Whoever follows this rule of faithful perseverance must in the end find a place among life's winners. For with repeated effort power grows. And power thus augmented proves irresistible at last.

Changed in Transit.

A teacher asked her pupils to suggest a song to be sung by the class and a patriotic little fellow in the rear called for "My Country, 'Tis of Thee." His voice was so weak that the teacher could not understand and a youngster near him sang out: "He wants His Country 'Tis of Him." —Boston Transcript.
